SPECIAL HONORS AND MEDALLIONS

CENTENNIAL MEDALLION

The Nevada Centennial Medallion is presented annually to the graduating senior earning the highest four-year scholastic average at UNLV. Due to the early date of Commencement this year, it is impossible to determine by the time of the ceremony the name of the student who has achieved this award for 1999.

However, as soon as all grades have been checked and verified, the 1999 recipient will be identified and presented the medallion at a special ceremony.

One-hundred-and-one medallions were given to the university by the Rotary Club of Las Vegas at the time of the state's centennial celebration in 1964. The last medallion will be awarded in 2064, the year of Nevada's two hundredth birthday.

Previous recipients are listed below in descending order from 1998 to 1964.

Paula Golata
Shannon Siciliano

PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The Presidential Medallion is the official insignia of the University President and is worn at Commencement and other ceremonial occasions. UNLV's Presidential Medallion was given to the university by the Student Senate and Activities Board of the Consolidated Students of the University of Nevada (CSUN) in 1973.

The medallion depicts the official seal of the State of Nevada in sterling silver. Links of the chain are engraved with the names of every president of the university and their terms of office, symbolizing the continuity of responsibility in the office.

PHI KAPPA PHI MEDALLIONS

Graduating seniors who have been initiated into UNLV's chapter of Phi Kappa Phi National Honor Society are presented with bronze medallions hung on a blue ribbon to be worn at Commencement. Each year Chapter 100 at UNLV invites to membership the top 10 percent of the senior class and the top 5 percent of the junior class in all academic disciplines.

GOLDEN KEY NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY MEDALLIONS

The Golden Key National Honor Society is open to juniors and seniors of all academic disciplines who have earned a 3.3 grade point average or higher. Graduating seniors wearing a gold medallion on a blue and gold cord are members of this prestigious society.

GRADUATION WITH HONORS

Summa cum laude, magna cum laude, and cum laude are the designations for students graduating with a baccalaureate degree who have earned 60 credits at UNLV and have a grade point average that places them in the top ten percent of students graduating from their college. Summa cum laude is bestowed on students who are in the top 1 percent of their college graduating class. Magna cum laude is bestowed on graduating students who are in the top 2 percent to 5 percent, and cum laude is bestowed on graduating students who are in the top 6 percent to 10 percent. The designations in the commencement program for May graduates are based on only seven semesters of academic accomplishments since final grades have not yet been tabulated. Students who have achieved the mark of summa cum laude, magna cum laude, or cum laude after their final semester's work will have the honor indicated on their diplomas and final transcripts. The Honors College has different criteria for awarding honors.

UNIVERSITY MACE

The University Mace, which has its traditions deeply rooted in history, is carried on ceremonial occasions at the head of the academic procession by the Grand Marshal, whose symbolic duty is the protection of the university, its persons, and its processes.

Originally a weapon, the earliest mace was made of iron and was capable of breaking armor. Bishops, forbidden by canon law to bear swords, sometimes took the mace with them into battle. The mace, a long club with a ball of iron, steel, or brass at one end, was used in warfare as late as the sixteenth century.

The use of the mace as an instrument of ceremony, however, began about the year 1250 in England and France, and is still used widely today in university ceremonies like commencements and inaugurations.

The UNLV Mace, cast by UNLV emeritus professor Michael McCollum in 1970, was created using the lost wax process. Erik Gronborg's design for the cubical head of the mace included facets depicting the university seal, a rendering of the Statue of Liberty, a likeness of Renaissance scholar Leonardo da Vinci, and a shelf of books flanked by artists' brushes. The mace is made of polished aluminum with a black hardwood staff hand-dyed by Mr. McCollum.

The mace bearers today are Ms. Billie M. Polson, Director of Technical Services, Dickinson Library, and Dr. Felicia F. Campbell, Professor of English, who are marking their fortieth and thirty-seventh years respectively with the University and Community College System of Nevada.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The academic caps, gowns, and hoods that make the procession so colorful are part of an 800-year tradition. Academic clothing was first worn in medieval universities like Cambridge, Oxford, Paris, and Bologna. The gowns and hoods served a practical purpose in the days of unheated classrooms.

The European custom was carried to America with the establishment of our own colleges and universities. In 1895 an academic code of dress was adopted, and the standards were accepted by most of the colleges and universities in the United States. Today, the black robe, hood, and cap are generally worn.

Different types of black gowns may be distinguished in the academic procession. The bachelors' gowns have long pointed sleeves; the masters' gowns have oblong sleeves with an arc cut away in the front. The doctors' gowns are faced with velvet and have bell-shaped sleeves with three bars of velvet. The president's robe has four chevrons on its sleeves.

The Oxford cap, the so-called mortarboard, is black and has a long tassel fastened to the middle of the top that is worn pendant over the left front of the cap. The hood, draped from the shoulder, denotes by its length and colors the field of study and the institution which conferred the degree.

May 15, 1999

Dear Alumnus,

A college degree is a hallmark for which many strive but few attain. Today you have achieved a milestone in your life and begin a new adventure. On behalf of the UNLV Alumni Association I would like to extend a most heartfelt congratulations to you on this momentous occasion.

Our mission is to promote and enhance the university through alumni, students, and community. Our pledge is to provide quality programs and events that allow UNLV alumni to stay in contact with and maintain loyalty to their alma mater.

I encourage you to join those that support the fine institution from which you have just earned your degree. Membership in the UNLV Alumni Association will allow a stronger foundation to emerge as we work toward the goal of making our university the very best it can be.

Congratulations again!
